

HUMAN MODE, ALWAYS

The Immersive Experience — Los Angeles | March 2026

"You are not falling alone. The complete picture is visible if you know how to look."

THE CONCEPT

Human Mode, Always: The Experience is not a conference. It is not a keynote with cocktails.

It is a full-sensory journey through the core ideas of MATTERING — designed so that every guest feels the concepts in their body before they understand them in their mind. From the moment they arrive to the moment they leave, guests move through a series of activations that mirror the book's arc: the trap of tunnel vision, the shock of expanded awareness, the practice of the Scan Routine, and the recognition that they are not — and have never been — falling alone.

Target vibe: Immersive art installation meets TED-caliber intellectual experience meets high-production LA bling. Think Meow Wolf meets Accenture Innovation Lab meets a skydiving drop zone that someone made impossibly cool.

GUEST JOURNEY

ARRIVAL Freefall Entry
(atmospheric)

THE EXPERIENCE Six Activation
Zones (book pillars)

DEPARTURE The Landing
(keepsake + community)

THE SIX ACTIVATION ZONES

ZONE 0 — THE FREEFALL ENTRY

Concept: Altimeter Lock begins at the door

- 20-foot immersive entry corridor with floor-to-ceiling projection of sky rushing upward
- Spatial audio: wind, distant aircraft hum, then silence
- Wall text in oversized Sofia Sans Bold: "At 180 mph, the instinct is to fixate. What you focus on next changes everything."
- The tunnel opens to the full event space — deliberately overwhelming. Too much to see at once. That's the point.

AV / Production: Christie laser projectors (180°), d&b; audiotechnik spatial audio, custom wind soundscape

ZONE 1 — THE ALTIMETER LOCK CHAMBER

Concept: Feel what tunnel vision actually costs

- 8-foot 3D altimeter prop at room center — backlit in Navy, analog face with sweeping hand
- STATE A (Locked): Dynamic lighting narrows until only the altimeter glows. Teammate voices go silent. The metric pulses alone.
- STATE B (The Scan): A projected hand — the Instructor's Gesture — points outward. Lights expand, voices return, the full picture floods back.
- Takeaway: custom-stamped coin with the Scan Routine on one side, altimeter graphic on the other.

AV / Production: Circular LED wall (270°), theatrical lighting rig, spatial audio, custom 3D altimeter prop fabrication

ZONE 2 — THE TEAM IN FREEFALL

Concept: You cannot see the formation from inside the fixation

- THE PARACHUTE MURAL: 20–25 ft floor-to-ceiling mural of skydivers in formation — diverse, cinematic, human. Navy + Slate palette. One slot left open — the guest's slot.
- THE FREEFALL PHOTO BOOTH: AR overlay places guests inside the formation. Print-on-demand 4x6 branded with "You are not falling alone." Digital sent to phone, shareable.
- THE INTERDEPENDENCE NET: Guests write "one thing they need others to see" on tags. Tags join a growing net suspended from the ceiling. By end of night, the net is full.

AV / Production: Large-format mural print or hand-painted, AR photo station, live print kiosk, suspended installation net

ZONE 3 — THE BRICOLAGE LAB

Concept: Leadership is building with what you have

- Tables stocked with raw materials: rope, carabiners, fabric, maps, compasses, chalk
- Rotating prompt on the wall (every 30 min): "With what's on this table, solve ____."
- JSB facilitator floats the room, drawing out insights without directing outcomes
- Outputs photographed and projected live on a feed in the main space

ZONE 4 — THE SCAN ROUTINE LOUNGE

Concept: The practice, not the theory

- Deep seating, low lighting, Slate Blue and Cream — the most intimate zone
- Five oversized cards per table: Altimeter / Rip Cord / Sky / Team / Landmarks, each with conversation prompts
- THE RITUAL: Every 45 minutes, a soft chime. All zones pause 60 seconds. JSB's voice guides the room through one Scan cycle. Then the noise resumes.

ZONE 5 — THE GESTURE WALL

Concept: The leadership act that changes everything

- Floor-to-ceiling Navy backlit panel with prompt: "What fixation have you been letting slide? What's the gesture you need to make?"
- Guests write anonymously on cards and pin them to the wall — a collective landscape of honest leadership reflection
- Video loop: JSB delivering the Instructor's Gesture keynote story — visceral, real, 4 minutes

THE BLING FACTOR — PREMIUM PRODUCTION TOUCHES

Custom Cocktail Menu	"The Altimeter" (navy-blue gin cocktail) · "Terminal Velocity" (espresso martini) · "The Scan" (non-alcoholic botanical) · "The Complete Picture" (champagne)
Scent Design	Entry zone: cold air, altitude (crisp, minimal). Scan Lounge: cedar, warmth, grounded. Each zone has a distinct scent signature.
Arrival Wristband	Custom leather wristband stamped with each guest's scan position for the evening: Altimeter / Sky / Team / Landmark — their role in the formation.
Live Score	Live musician or curated ambient score that shifts as the evening evolves — not background music, but a designed soundscape.
Projection Mapping	Key surfaces (ceiling, floors, mural wall) receive dynamic projection shifting between book concepts throughout the night.
Exit Moment	Guests exit through a second tunnel lined with photographs from the night — their own faces already printed and installed in real time.

THE LANDING — DEPARTURE EXPERIENCE

As guests leave, they receive a branded keepsake kit in a matte Navy envelope:

- The stamped coin (from Zone 1)
- A printed Scan Routine on Cream card stock
- QR code linking to a private post-event resource (MATTERING early access chapter or assessment)
- A handwritten note from JSB

*"You came in fixated. You leave with the complete picture.
That is Human Mode, Always.
Now go interrupt some tunnel vision."*

BRAND INTEGRATION — BOOK PILLARS TO ACTIVATIONS

Altimeter Lock	Zone 1 — The Altimeter Lock Chamber (3D installation + dual-state experience)
The Instructor's Gesture	Zone 5 — The Gesture Wall + JSB keynote video loop
The Team in Freefall	Zone 2 — Parachute Mural + Photo Booth + Interdependence Net
The Landscape Below	Zone 0 — Freefall Entry (environmental scanning begins at arrival)
The Scan Routine	Zone 4 — Scan Routine Lounge + 45-minute pause ritual
Bricolage	Zone 3 — The Bricolage Lab
Human Mode, Always	The full arc — every zone, the keepsake kit, the exit moment

GUEST OUTCOMES

- A felt memory — not just information. The freefall tunnel, the coin in their pocket, the pause ritual.
- A name for something they already knew — Altimeter Lock, Bricolage, the Scan Routine.
- A social artifact — the photo in the formation, shareable and branded.
- A next step — the keepsake kit with a clear entry into the MATTERING ecosystem.
- A community signal — they are part of a formation now. They are not falling alone.

OPEN QUESTIONS FOR PLANNING

- Venue: warehouse conversion, rooftop, gallery space? (Recommend: Arts District LA or Culver City creative space)
- Capacity: 150 / 300 / 500 guests?
- JSB presence: keynote moment embedded in the evening, or purely experiential?
- Ticket model: ticketed public, invite-only, sponsor-hosted, or hybrid?
- AV/production vendor: need LA-based immersive experience production partner
- Bricolage Lab facilitation: JSB team or trained hosts?
- MATTERING book timing: is March pre-launch or launch week?